

I actually got home yesterday but was too tired to do more than download the pictures from my camera (I took almost 400!) and grab a shower (4 am is too early to shower). My trip was great. I met a lot of my Dad's side of the family that I hadn't really known before and saw lots of cousins I only remembered as toddlers. I'll be going through all those pictures and pulling out some for a post soon (probably on the weekend) but for now you can see my new socks hanging out in the Vancouver Airport: Socks that Rock Lightweight in Firecracker knit up as My Heart Beats 4U

by Anne Hanson (Rockin' Sock Club, July/August 2010). They'll get a proper post of their own once I've got some good pictures (all the others I took in the airport are very blurry); they were my first try at knitting in a moving car.