

This is a candle cozy I crocheted a little while ago. I used Blair's pattern (adapted slightly for my smaller jar). It really is cozy.

I should be at the gym right now but was just too tired and hungry to make it through an hour long class. I decided the extra time at home before I fell asleep would be more useful.

My kettle is boiling.

If I can get my thoughts a little more together I'll tell you about Rob's new socks.

Abby is eating one of her very favourite treats - brown paper. She'll do tricks for it and everything.

I've made my very favourite tea - Murchie's Assam Tippy Golden. It's actually now called "Pure Assam" in their catalogue but the "Tippy Golden" part always make me smile.

I think I can hear Rob on the steps.

I bet Abby is sitting on the scratching post watching for him.

Mmmmm ... tea.