

Those Ears!

Wednesday, 26 September 2012 03:02

We had a visitor in our back yard last week. We've seen him around the neighbourhood a few times, mostly playing with the outdoor toys of the dog that lives across the street. He ran away just after I took this picture and I felt a little bad about scaring him off when he'd just settled into a nice cozy spot in the sun but I don't really want a fox feeling that comfortable in my yard and there are plenty of wild places nearby where he'd be just as happy.