

Sorry for the blog break. We were experiencing some technical difficulties with the server my blog is on but it looks like everything is good to go now.

Pattern: Sunnyside by Tanis Lavellée
Yarn: Tanis Fiber Arts Blue Label Fingering
Size: 12 - 18 Months
Yardage: 1 skein
Needles: 3.00 mm bamboo

I finished this little cardigan and delivered it to my sister two weekends ago. We didn't try it on Hannah just then but my sister was confident it would fit (and thought it would look especially cute with a little pair of jeans). I have to confess, the yolk and body of this sweater seemed to go on forever but that made the sleeves unbelievably quick. The lace pattern was pretty easy to memorize once it was established and I really like the way it runs down the raglan seams at the shoulders. The yarn, as always, was lovely to work with - soft and pretty - and my sister appreciated hearing that it can go through the washer. The buttons are just simple plastic ones from my button jar. I tried out a few different styles and colours but these were the easiest to use of the ones that looked nice with the yarn. I figured that anything helps when you're trying to dress a small, squirmy person.

Hannah's Sweater

Tuesday, 20 November 2012 19:42

