

Do-over

Friday, 08 July 2011 04:13

I frogged out the foot of my sock yesterday and started reknitting. Fortunately I'm still enjoying both the yarn and the pattern and it's going pretty quickly. I thought the elongated stitches looked kind of funny as I was frogging. I'm a little over half way through the chart for the point on the foot and there are only a few rounds between the end of the point and the beginning of the toe decreases. Maybe I'll have a new pair of socks this weekend.
