

Just popping to say that we haven't fallen off the face of the planet. I just can't seem to upload photos for blog posts at the moment and really, what's a post without a picture to go with it? I thought I'd figured out the problem but it turns out I didn't so it will have to wait until we can do a bit of detective work. Check back soon.